Dear worried father,

First, you need to know that you won't be able to stop your two sons from their usual activities, it's an addiction that teenagers worldwide suffer from. But, you can try and make them participate in physical and outdoor activities, it's guaranteed to take their minds off of the electronics. You can also give them advice and tell them about the importance of their education, as their respected father, they will listen to you. I hope I helped enough.
 with my best wishes.
